NEWPORT, July 22.

NEWPORT'S social season will be given an added luster should President Harding's plans to visit former Governor R. Livingston Beekman at Land's End, in August, mature. The President has signified his willingness to make the trip for a day or two, if the affairs of the nation permit. Should he arrive between August 7 and 20, he will receive a big greeting, as the Atlantic Fleet will be in Newport harbor, while the summer season will be at its height. The invitation has been issued by Mr. Beekman, who last week entertained Acting Secretary of the Navy Theodore Roosevelt.

Numerous activities marked the week's social events. Four tennis tournaments attracted large galleries at the Casino and active participation on the part of several of the summer colony. A golf tournament between Newport and Narragansett Pier was given, while during the week there was a continual round of the former.

Newport to Have Gayest
Season Since Before War

Plans for the coming weeks show that Newport is to have its gayest season since before the war. Mrs. William Goadby Loew, a active participant and follower of tennis, has announced that she will give the entertainment in the form of a dinner and dance for the country's best players, who have been invited to compete in the sixth annual invitation tournament of the Newport Casino, starting August 14. The dinner will be given on Saturday, August 19, at Stoneacre, the low residence, while the dance which will follow will be at the Clam bake Club.

Spirited competition marked the tennis tournament of the first part of the week. The women's invitation singles tournament, included eight ranking stars, and was won by Miss Leslie Bancroft, of Boston, over Miss Helen Willis, the sixteen-year-old California girl who is national girls' champion. In the women's doubles, Miss Florence Low, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Goadby Loew, and Miss Leslie Bancroft were the victors, while in the mixed doubles Miss Natalie Winslow, daughter of Admiral Cameron McRae Winslow, and Mr. Craig Riddle won the finals. Each of the winners received suitable prizes.

It was as the result of an informal discussion and difference of opinion relative to the matter of the tournament to-day, open to the members of the Myopia, Essex County, Nahant and Montserrat clubs, with all of the colonies represented in the entry list. Tea is to be served at the clubhouse on Thursday afternoon in connection with the band concert. At the clubs and at the hotels there has been much going on with the dances to-night promising to prove popular, and following dinner parties given by many of the colonists.

Mr. Guy Nevins is to give the first of a series of lectures in French at the home of Mrs. Godfrey L. Cabot, at Beverly Farms, on Friday morning. He was blinded while serving in the French army, and is to have for his subject "The Master of Fate." A series of talks is to be given at Ipswich during the next two months by the Rev. Carroll Perry, brother of Professor Bliss Perry, on English literature.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Bowman, of New York City, are at the Harbor View, at East Gloucester. Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Lavers, of Montclair, N. J., are also there. Hawthorne Inn arrivals include Mrs. E. P. Mills, Bronxville; Miss B. H. Corwin, Miss M. A. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Flash jr., Miss Constance Wickham, Miss Grace E. Stewart, Miss Mary D. Ferris, Mrs. C. P. Bliss and Mrs. E. W. Bailey, of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Thomas, the Misses Louise and Katherine Thomas, Mrs. J. E. McBurney, Mrs. Walker Evans jr. and Miss Jane Evans are at the Dolphin, at Magnolia. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Montgomery, of New York, have been at the Edward, at Rockport. Mrs. William H. Moore, of New York, was among those working for the success of the annual garden party and fair held at Beverly Farms on Thursday in aid of St. John's Episcopal Church of the place. Mrs. Rockmar Moore is at Rockmar, Bride's Crook, during the season. Her son, Mr. Paul Moore, and family are on the summer from Convent, N. J., and have taken the Amory cottage, at Beverly Cove.

Mrs. Guy Norman, of Washington and Newport, opened her cottage, Bee Rock, off Prince Street, at the Cove, this week for the first time for several seasons, and has been warmly welcomed by the cottagers. Mrs. Eliot C. Bacon, of New York City, is to spend a portion of the summer with Mrs. Norman, her mother.

Mrs. George A. Abbott, Mrs. H. A. Smith and Mrs. C. D. Simpson have been among the New York City visitors enjoying North Shore life at the Moorland, at Bass Rocks.

Country Club of Westchester
To Replace Home Lost by Fire

The fire which destroyed the Country Club of Westchester on New Year's Day, 1922, like other conflagrations that have become historic as generators of added prestige through reconstruction, is already fading from the minds of the members as the great catastrophe that it first seemed.

Since the traditions of the club did not perish in the flames, it will need only the materialization of plans that have already been formulated to cause a phoenix to rise from the ashes which have faithfully garnered the essence of whatever there was of architectural beauty in the old clubhouse and to destroy all memory of the fire except as a background for progress.

It has been decided to replace the building which was burned, to add seventy acres of the Lorillard Spencer property adjoining the club on the north, to build a modern championship eighteen-hole golf course and to install a plant that will be as complete in its equipment as any in the world.

Second Oldest in America
The Country Club of Westchester, which has the distinction of being the second oldest country club in America, was organized in 1883, at a dinner given by Mr. James M. Waterbury.

Among the guests at this dinner were Mr. Oliver Iselin, Mr. De Lancey Kane, Mr. John S. Ellis, Mr. Henry A. Coster, Mr. Pierre Lorillard, Mr. Francis A. Watson, Mr. George A. Ade, Mr. Alexander Taylor jr., Mr. Fred W. Jackson, Mr. John S. Furman, Mr. Lorillard Spencer jr. and Mr. Alfred Seton jr.

In the articles of incorporation it was stated that the club was organized for the purpose of creating friendliness and social enjoyment among the residents of that section of New York, and of encouraging outdoor sports. Among the original members of the club were Mr. William K. Vanderbilt, Mr. J. J. Astor, Mr. William C. Whitney, Mr. Pierre Lorillard, Mr. Jacob Lorillard, Mr. Brockhurst Cuttler, Mr. Winthrop Cutting, Mr. E. P. Morgan, Mr. A. H. Morris, Mr. D. H. Morris, Mr. Theodore A. Havemeyer, Mr. Charles H. Havemeyer, Mr. S. S. Sands, Mr. W. H. Sands, Mr. Charles D. Dickey, Mr. Clarence H. Mackay, Mr. George J. Gould, Mr. Fred H. Allen and Mr. J. G. Agar.

From the first there were spring and fall race-meetings, with Mr. D. Withers as judge, and such well known amateur riders as Mr. Foxhall Keene, Mr. Arthur Hunter, Mr. George Work, Mr. John D. Cheever, Mr. Stanley Mortimer and Mr. Samuel Sands.

Yachting also has a history in the club, with Mr. C. O. D. Iselin, Mr. William Iselin, Mr. A. H. Morris, Mr. D. H. Morris, Mr. G. A. Ade and Mr. Randolph as owners of yachts.
